a new race of monsters, a youth that has lost all idealism and lives only for its own kicks and selfish thrills. Recognizing this hysteria and abused by it, the kids enjoy scaring the daylight out of their parents by pretending to live up to this caricature.

Many a grownup now sees the typical teen-ager as if he were showing him in a Coney Island amusement park distorting mirror. He sees an unwashed, disheveled, mop-headed youngster with a marijuana cigarette dangling from his lip and holding a hypodermic needle in one hand and a smoking pistol in the other.

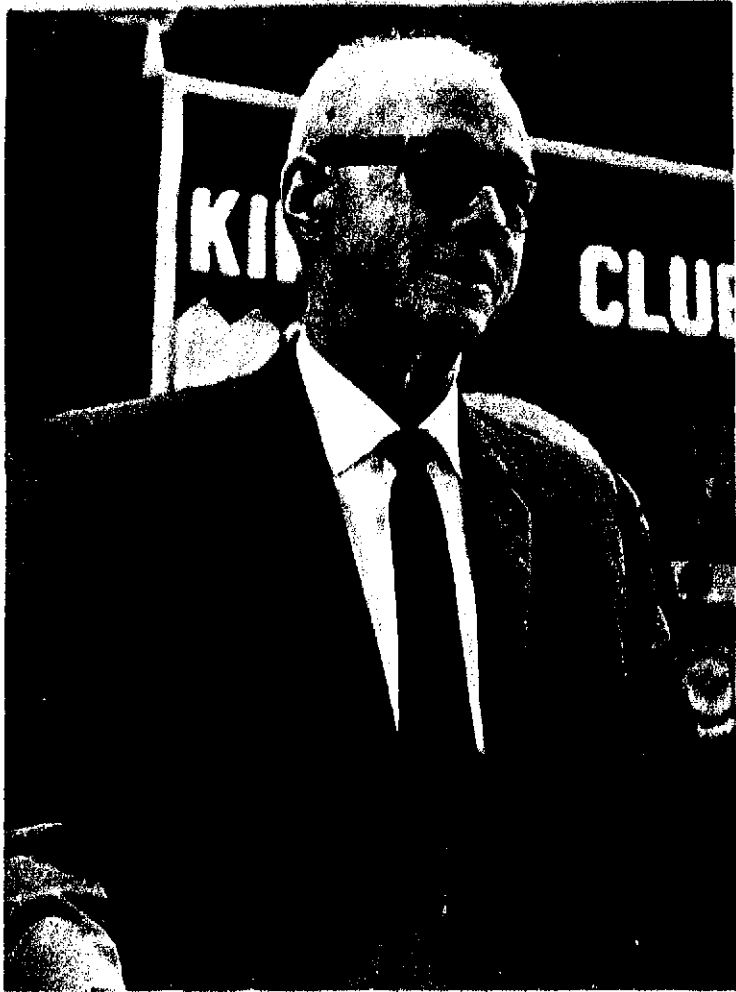

What normal, wholesome teen-ager wouldn't be secretly delighted at this apparition, untrue of himself as he knows it to be? By pretending it is verily, he can capitalize on adult panic. Instead of playing trick-or-treat games with grownups only on Halloween, he can scare them all year long.

The average teen-ager doesn't take dope, smoke reefer, indulge in sex orgies, carry a pistol, or beat up defenseless old ladies for the change in their purses. The record shows that most teen-agers are learning more in school than did any previous youth group and, in their own way, are as dedicated and as idealistic as any that came before them. The big differences seem to be that they are less hypocritical, less deferential to their elders, and since they prefer rock 'n' roll, that they march to the music of a louder drummer.

One fact of the matter is that the older generation today is the most neurotic and terror-stricken in history. Hallucination and aberration have become taboos with us.

Perhaps if we simply quit pushing the panic button in ourselves we wouldn't be so panicky about our offspring.

peace terms could come only in direct talks between Hanoi and Saigon.

Pham Dang Lam, head of Saigon's observers in Paris, said he does not think his government will change its mind and join the talks under the four-party formula that would bring the Viet Cong to the bargaining table on Hanoi's side.

Although Pentagon authorities said Clifford spoke for himself, the defense chief generally reflects the views of President Johnson. He long has been one of Johnson's closest advisors on the war.

Clifford's words, delivered with considerable emotion, were calculated to impress on the Saigon government that the United States does not intend to let its objections stand in the way.

the state. Incumbents who lost included Elrod, Sen. Cecil McNeill of Rector, Rep. Chadd Durrett of Strong and Rep. Marcus Howell of Wabash.

McNeill was defeated in the Democratic primary by Burrell Thompson of Paragould, who beat Republican Paul Payne of Paragould in the general election last week.

Durrett also lost in the party primary to Bobby G. Newman of Smackover, who was unopposed in the general election.

Howell, a former Democrat who changed his party affiliation earlier this year, lost to Ernest Cunningham of Helena, a Democrat. Howell had served nine terms in the House as a Democrat but said he changed parties because his ancestors had been Republicans in Tennessee.

The defeat of Elrod and retirement of Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville, who had served since 1947, left the top seniority positions to Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs and Max Howell of Little Rock, both of whom entered the Senate in 1951.

The top four in House seniority are John Bethell of Des Arc, Harry Colay of Magnolia, Talbot Feldt Jr. of Hope and Joel Ledbetter of Little Rock. All are entering their 11th terms.

Bethell and Ledbetter were first elected in 1949, Feldt in 1941 and Colay in 1947. Bethell and Ledbetter have served continuously since election while the other two had their service interrupted.

Newcomers in the Senate will be Caldwell, Thompson and John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville.

Newcomers in the House will be Bynum, Chrisman, Cunningham, Newman, Leroy Blaken- ship of Walnut Ridge, Paul Henry of Batesville, Jimmy Adcox of Newport, Charles R. Moore of Luxora, Raymond A. Each of the nine terminals will retrieve information from the memory bank computer, which is located in the Revenue Department Building in Little Rock. The computer will interpret the inquiry, retrieve the desired information, and return it to the terminals all in a matter of seconds. The new system will be known as the Arkansas Central Telecommunications System (ACTS).

The computer will not only improve the efficiency of the State Police to retrieve motor vehicle registration and drivers license information but will assist all law enforcement agencies in Arkansas. Any Department desiring any information that the computer system has access to can merely request the information by radio to their respective State Police District Headquarters.

The new system affords troopers the opportunity of being aware of a potentially dangerous situation before stopping a suspicious vehicle. Troopers observing a suspicious vehicle can supply the needed information by radio to their District dispatcher, who in turn will enter the inquiry into the terminal. In three to five seconds the terminal will retrieve from the computer the name of the registered owner, the make, model, serial number, and color of the vehicle in question. Suspicious of troopers can be verified before stopping the vehicle in question. Drivers license information can be obtained in the same rapid and concise manner. The old familiar story given troopers, "I left my driver's license at home," is a thing of the past. Troopers now will be able to have all pertinent drivers license information in a matter of seconds. The use of the new computer will do away with the old antiquated method of securing this type of information. The procedure formerly used was timely and left room for human error. It could require minutes, and even hours to obtain motor vehicle and drivers license information. In using the old procedure, the troopers would have to radio their District Headquarters, supply the desired information, and then the District radio operator would relay the information to the Little Rock headquarters. The radio operator in Little Rock would then phone the Revenue Department secure the information, and then repeat the entire process back to the trooper. This old procedure has often proven to be an inconvenience to motorists and the trooper.

Early in 1969, the terminals will be connected with the National Crime Information Center (N.C.I.C.) in Washington, D. C. At the present time, 46 states are supplying information to the N.C.I.C. FILES. The files are composed of information on stolen vehicles, fugitives, and stolen items that have definite characteristics or a serial number. All nine terminals will have direct contact with the N.C.I.C. information. The terminals will also transmit messages between District Headquarters of the State Police, either simultaneously or to only one District Headquarters. The Telecommunications System will assist the Department in gathering road, weather, and traffic condition information for dissemination to the news media in Arkansas.

Colonel Ralph D. Scott, Director of the Arkansas State Police, in commenting on the computer system, has stated that it's the greatest innovation to law enforcement since the invention of the two-way radio, and that the ability of the computer to perform is only restricted by man's ability to store information.

Dirty Politics Giving Way to Smears

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee says old-style dirty politics is giving way to more subtle smears "in the form of Madison Avenue tactics."

These are the tactics, Samuel J. Archibald said Tuesday, that were "formerly used to sell under arm deodorant."

Despite the emergence of more sophisticated smears, Archibald told reporters the 1968 election was the cleanest in years.

This year, there were 62 complaints of code violations compared to 68 in 1966 and 98 in the last presidential election year of 1964.

Archibald said nine complaints concerned the presidential race, compared to 35 in 1964.

Archibald said he felt his committee's actions—receiving complaints, going to the opposite party for comment and when a file is complete then informing the news media of all communications—had worked superbly.

"All we are doing is getting both sides to the public," Archibald says. "Sometimes we have to go back to each party several times to get all the issues answered. But we never make judgments."

In 1966, he said, 65 per cent of the "candidates involved in dirty politics lost their election." He hasn't compiled a win-loss record for this year.

Only one set of candidates took advantage of an arbitration panel provided for the first time this year through a Ford Foundation grant.

Likes Porks Over SMU Saturday

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With just two full weekends remaining on the college football schedule, the end is in sight for this panting prognosticator ... Done in by underdogs ... along with Kansas, Tennessee and Purdue ... last week, we settled for a 46-14 record, which boosted the cover-all accuracy mark to 722 (341-117-14). Here's the view from the bridge on this week's matchups:

Southern California over Oregon State: This one is for all the roses. Last year it was Oregon State, 3-0, in the Corvallis mud, but the track should be faster for O.J. Simpson at the LA Coliseum.

Ohio State over Iowa: But the unbeaten Buckeyes will have to keep a close watch on Ed Podolak, Iowa's passer-turned-runner, who rambled for 286 yards against Northwestern last week.

Oklahoma over Missouri: The Sooners took previously-unbeaten Kansas down a peg in the Big Eight race and they seem solid enough to bag the visiting Tigers.

Georgia over Auburn: Auburn is a proven giant-killer, but well go along with Bulldog bruiser Bill Stanfill and his Georgia defensive gang.

Notre Dame over Georgia Tech: Terry Hanratty is through for the year, but his replacement looked like the real McCoy against Pitt.

Miami, Fla. over Alabama: Look for Miami's Ted Hendricks to buck the Tide in his hometown finale.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: Arkansas' Bill Montgomery gets our nod over the Mustangs' Chuck Hixon.

Ohio University over Cincinnati: The unbeaten Bobcats have the defensive might to handle Cincinnati's pass-master Greg Cook.

EAST—Army over Pittsburgh; Syracuse over Navy; Boston College over Virginia Military; Rutgers over Holy Cross; Yale over Princeton; Harvard over Brown; Cornell over Dartmouth; Columbia over Pennsylvania.

SOUTH—Penn State over Maryland; Tennessee over Mississippi; Louisiana State over Mississippi State; Kentucky over Florida; North Carolina State over Florida State; Clemson over North Carolina; Virginia Tech over South Carolina; Wake Forest over Duke; Virginia over Tulane; Southern Mississippi over Richmond; North Texas State over Louisville; Memphis State over Wichita State.

MIDWEST — Indiana over Minnesota; Michigan over Wisconsin; Purdue over Michigan State; Illinois over Northwestern; Colorado over Nebraska; Oklahoma State over Iowa State; Kansas over Kansas State.

SOUTHWEST — Texas over Texas Christian; Houston over Idaho; Texas Tech over Baylor; Texas A&M over Rice.

FAK WEST—California over Oregon; Washington over UCLA; Stanford over Pacific; Washington State over San Jose State; Wyoming over Texas-El Paso; Arizona State over Brigham Young; Arizona over Utah; New Mexico State over New Mexico; Air Force over Tulsa.

Baltimore Colts Lead Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — in the all-important vital statistics of touchdowns scored by the enemy and points against, the Baltimore Colts defense leads the parade in the National Football League.

In average yardage statistics, the Los Angeles Rams' defense has done the best job, permitting only 214 yards per game over-all and only 77 yards per game on the ground. Green Bay is first in pass defense with 116, Baltimore ranks fourth in total defense, third against the rush and sixth against the pass but the big figure is only 13 touchdowns against them and 108 points in nine games.

The weekly NFL statistics show Dallas on top in total offense with an average of 368 yards and 215 to passing.

Spencer, once a contender for the world title, said later he intended to "take a year off."

Linebacker for Dolphins Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Weisacosky of the Miami Dolphins is The Associated Press' defensive player of the week in the American Football League. The Dolphin linebacker was selected for the honor today on the basis of his play in Miami's 21-17 victory over Buffalo Sunday. The Bills were leading 17-0 when Weisacosky started the victory by recovering Bob Cappa-dona's fumble at the Buffalo 41 in the third period. Four plays later, Miami had its first touchdown. Another linebacker, Randall Edmunds, was also a big help to Miami, intercepting a pass that set up the winning touchdown.

Nashville Next for Bobcats

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Coming down the home stretch now, the Hope Bobcats could make the year a satisfying one by spoiling Nashville's Homecoming this Friday night.

Throughout the series history between the Bobcats and the Scrappers, it has been the underdog's duty to upset the shape of things and produce a cliff-hanger. Last year the 2-7-1 Hope team did the job well before a couple of late scores gave 9-1 Nashville a 27-13 victory.

For 1968, though, the story is entirely different. Although the Scrappers are 6-3-1 and the Bobcats are 3-6-1, the two teams should be about even in terms of personnel. For the first time in ages Nashville has not been able to overpower District 7-A, and Hope has not been able to put it all together.

The ideal setup would be for Nashville to play just average, with the Bobcats fitting the pieces in right and winning by two touchdowns. Such is not likely to happen, though, and mainly because the Scrappers will not play "just average."

Considering the fact that it is Homecoming for Nashville and that it is their last home game would be enough to get them ready to play, but tack on the fact that Hope is the opponent and you come up with a monster. Besides the fact that the Scrappers will be seething by kickoff time in anticipation of dishing out some hard licks, those Nashville fans will be enough to fill up the stadium.

It has been disappointing road for the Bobcats, from the Ash-down game on down. Now the squad and coaching staff realize that they have something to take it out on, and this ought to be enough for Hope.

For four long years Nashville has dominated the Bobcats in the annual clash, and they would love nothing more than to make it a fifth. Both teams have been plagued with injuries, but Hope has had the hardest end in that category.

After two weeks off end David Still is back at full speed, and his pass receiving and punting are vital factors in Hope's chances. This week's new injury, though, was awarded to tailback Danny Reyenga, who suffered a broken collarbone and is out for the year.

Reyenga led the Bobcats against Camden Lincoln with 95 yards gained, and his replacement will most likely be freshman Ray Wheelington. Ray scored two TD's in his debut with the "B" squad Monday night at Magnolia, following a junior high season in which he scored 52 points and ran for 738 yards in seven games.

Through the first ten weeks of the season, one tell-tale statistic has held true without a flaw. Three times out of ten Hope has put across a second-half score, and those same three games are the only wins in a 3-6-1 record. Also, in each of those winning games the Cats scored at least 13 points in the final two periods, while in each case the other team was shut out on the scoreboard.

Another figure that has meant some difference this year has been the defensive performance in the second half. Out of ten opponents, six were held scoreless in the last two quarters and three more scored only one TD. Magnolia is the lone exception with four scores in the 41-0 runaway, but this clearly shows that Hope has not been far from a winning season all along.

If the Bobcat offense had jelled as the defense has, that record could very easily have been reversed. It hasn't, though, and the past must yield to the present. Two games remain, and the Cats are only thinking about winning them one at a time.

Around 4-A, everyone seems to feel that Fairview will roll over Malvern for the Western Division title berth against Magnolia in the 4-AA championship game.

These people might get a jolt next Friday night, when the Cardinals and the upspring Leopards meet in a rematch of last year's nerve-racker. Fairview is the incumbent victor, but their throne is in immediate danger from Cornell Williams and Co.

Cornell and his Leopards have rolled over everybody in 4-AA that has tried them, and they haven't lost since the fourth week of the season when LR Catholic beat them 13-10. By the way, Catholic High defeated the state's No. 3 team, Russellville, in a big upset last Friday.

For now anyway, it does appear that Malvern has a team better suited to match Magnolia's forces. The Leopards have a defense which is better than Fairview's, and they have a more explosive offense than the Cardinals

Tech Guard Gets Player of Week

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer
Texas Tech guard Don King did such a good job of feeling like he did a bad job last Saturday, that he was named today as the Associated Press Southwest Conference lineman-of-the-week.

It seems that everytime King is on the verge of an outstanding performance, he has just the opposite feeling.

"Everytime I feel like I haven't played too good, it turns out I've done pretty good," King explained.

While King was opening gaping holes in TCU's line Saturday, SMU's Mike Richardson was doing his thing against the Texas Aggies. He rushed for 244 yards, scored four touchdowns and erased Kyle Rote's name from the SMU record book.

All that made Richardson a solid choice for the back-of-the-week award.

King came running off the field early in the game against TCU with some good news for Tech coach J. T. King: "I can move my man," he said.

That was all the coach wanted to hear and soon Tech's backs were cruising past King's granite-like blocks on TCU's unfortunate defender Larry Adams.

"It wasn't so much a case of moving him off the ball as it was just staying with him," King said. "Larry is a big fellow and I couldn't exactly drive him off the ball but I felt I could stay with him long enough to put forth."

They meet in Fairview next Friday, and you can wager that Malvern will be at their best, which should be enough to win.

King, who gave way about five inches in height and several pounds to Adams, said technique meant a lot when facing a bigger man.

"I didn't try to get up there where he is the strongest," King said. "I stayed low on him and that helped a lot."

Richardson took his performance in the 36-23 victory over Texas A&M so casually, he said he didn't realize he was setting any kind of a record.

Richardson is a senior and has definite plans to make it as a pro—at running back, where else?

"I'd like to try it at running back just to see if I could make it," Richardson said. "That's where I have my best chance."

Other backs receiving votes included Tech quarterback Tom Sawyer, and Arkansas back Chuck Discus.

Other linemen nominees were Baylor tackle Richard Stevens, A&M tackle Rolf Krueger, Tech end Bruce Dowdy, Arkansas tackle Gordon McNulty and Arkansas guard Jim Barnes.

Porks Work Out in Chilly Weather

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked out for 1½ hours Tuesday in chilly weather, and after the practice Coach Frank Broyles said "we still have a long way to go."

He was referring to getting ready to play Southern Methodist's Mustangs Saturday in Little Rock in a key Southwest Conference game.

Arkansas and SMU are two of the four teams tied for the conference lead.

Broyles termed the workout a good one, saying the Razorbacks are beginning to react properly to SMU's defensive alignment and that the defense is adjusting to SMU's offense.

Notre Dame Averaging 521 Yds. Game

NEW YORK (AP) — An awesome rout of lowly Pittsburgh has vaulted Notre Dame into the national lead in total offense and a share of the major college scoring lead.

The 550 total yards the Irish rolled up in the 56-7 drubbing last weekend enabled them to unseat Houston as the offensive leader, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Service.

Notre Dame is averaging 521.6 yards per game, and Houston 418.6.

Notre Dame's 56 points gave it a share of first in scoring with Kansas, a 27-23 upset victim of Oklahoma last weekend. The leaders are averaging 40.6 points per game.

Texas-El Paso, which picked up 401 yards through the air in a 34-31 loss to North Texas, replaced Southern Methodist as the passing leader. Texas-El Paso is averaging 310.4 yards per game, SMU 307.4.

L.A. Defeats Minnesota in Overtime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took Los Angeles a little longer but the Stars and the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association each got the job done Tuesday night.

Both clubs came through with the tough task of beating the divisional leaders.

Los Angeles had to go into overtime in nipping Minnesota 134-127, 116-110. It was only the second loss for the first-place Pipers of the Eastern Division. They have won five times.

The Rockets snapped Western Division leader Oakland's six-game winning streak with a 134-127 home-court victory. The Oaks have lost only two of their first 11 games.

In the National Basketball Association, Milwaukee stopped Seattle 127-114, Chicago took San Diego 115-108, Cincinnati beat Baltimore 126-115 and San Francisco triumphed Atlanta 123-108.

Denver took advantage of Oakland's cold third period and held on for its victory despite 44 points by Rick Barry.

Byron Beck and Bill McGill keyed the Rocket defense in the third period which held Barry to only four points.

New Opinion on Demonstrations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Folk-singer Joan Baez sported a new, short haircut Tuesday and a new opinion of campus demonstrations. They are "downright silly" and "irrelevant," she said.

Miss Baez, 27, who took part from time to time in the University of California at Berkeley student rebellion in 1964 although not a student there, told a news conference that there "might be a time or a reason for campus demonstrations, but I haven't seen it yet."

"If you're going to do anything really revolutionary, you're going to have to leave the campus."

Bob Gibson Named Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Gibson, the St. Louis Cardinals' brilliant right-hander, was named the National League's Most Valuable Player today, capping an unprecedented pitchers' sweep of baseball's most coveted prizes.

Gibson, a 22-game winner whose 1.12 earned run average was the lowest in league history, beat out batting champ Pete Rose of Cincinnati in a relatively close contest for MVP honors after capturing the NL Cy Young Award as the unanimous choice of the voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Detroit ace Denny McLain took the American League MVP and Cy Young awards.

In Matsuyama, Japan, where the Cardinals were scheduled to play a local team on their exhibition tour, Gibson said:

"It's great. It's just great, because pitchers don't usually win MVP awards. I've got to thank everyone on the team. The whole team helped me have a good year."

Gibson, who pitched 13 shut-outs in leading the Cardinals to their second consecutive pennant, succeeds teammate Orlando Cepeda as the NL MVP. Cepeda, the only unanimous selection for MVP in National League history, did not receive a single vote this year.

Gibson, 33, a strapping 6-foot-2 veteran of nine seasons with the Cardinals, is the ninth pitcher-MVP since the inception of the award in 1931. Until this year, only Don Newcombe, in 1956, and Sandy Koufax, in 1963, had won both the Cy Young—for pitchers only—and MVP awards.

In the Cy Young voting, Gibson received all 20 first places from the BBWA panel—two writers from each city. He got 14 firsts in the MVP balloting, Rose picking up the other six, and outpointed the hustling Cincinnati outfielder 242-205.

The writers voted for 10 places, with a first worth 14 points, a second, 9 points, a third, 8, and on down to 1 point for 10th.

Rose, who nipped Pittsburgh's Matty Alou for the batting title, .335 to .332, by going 7-for-15 in his last three games, was no lower than fourth on all 20 ballots.

Willie McCovey, San Francisco's slugging first baseman, finished third with 135 points. Curt Flood, the Cardinals' dandy center fielder, was fourth with 116 and Juan Marichal, the Giants' pitching star, was fifth with 93. Gibson, Rose, McCovey and Marichal were the only players among 26 receiving votes who were named on every ballot.

Gibson won 15 straight games during the 1968 season, completed 28 of his 34 starts and finished with a 22-9 record. His 1.12 ERA broke the mark of 1.22 set in 1915 by Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Storing Body Parts Is Buying Time for Transplant Patients

By BURL OSBORNE

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Storing of vital body parts is buying time and hope for potential organ transplant patients, putting them within reach of the lifesaving surgery no matter where they are.

Each second's delay in restoring blood and oxygen to a donor heart or liver or kidney means a

More Negroes Slated for Jury Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal courts across the country, anticipating a new law that goes into effect next month, are seeking Negroes and others from minority groups as jury candidates.

The Federal Jury Selection Act passed by Congress in March, was intended to meet complaints that Negroes too often are passed over in federal jury selection, and it is expected to give representation on juries to all economic classes.

Proponents of the law, including President Johnson, said that there had been a tendency in the past to exclude the poor, or members of minority groups, from federal jury duty.

Apart from setting up a system of random jury selection, the act doubles the daily pay for jurors—from $20—and provides more generous subsistence allowances.

The act becomes effective Dec. 23, and senior U.S. district court judges across the country have in recent weeks been supervising the at-random selection of jury panels from which future jurors may be taken.

The names of thousands of persons who have received questionnaires and who have not claimed exemption for any of the reasons permitted under the act will be pooled.

Among those who may claim exclusion are people over 70, physicians, dentists, school-teachers, clergymen, mothers with children under 10 years of age, members of the armed forces, and policemen and firemen.

smaller chance of success. In specific terms, this means that people like Eddie Miller, 45, a construction worker from West Helena, Ark., had time to get to Denver for a liver transplant when a donor organ became available. His own liver was destroyed by cancer.

He is among seven survivors of liver transplants in Denver, including a 3-year-old northern California girl who underwent the operation Monday.

Others have been flown here on short notice for kidney or liver transplants from homes as far distant as Florida and New York and Honolulu.

Dozens of others, from all parts of the nation, are on a waiting list for kidney and liver transplant here. Perhaps 75 persons are in line for heart transplants here and in such centers as Houston, Tex.; Palo Alto, Calif.; and Richmond, Va.

Heart-lung machines have been used to keep a heart going and the lungs breathing after the donor patient has died, while the recipient is prepared for the transplant.

Dr. Lawrence Bretschneider and other surgeons here developed a low temperature, oxygen pressurized chamber to store livers for several hours.

Dr. F. O. Belzer of the University of California devised a similar machine which has stored kidneys up to 17 hours before successful implantation.

These storage techniques are steps toward organ "banks" which could provide a pool of donor organs, ready for long-distance tissue-matching and transport to the donor who needs one.

An "asking bid" is one that requests your partner to reveal his exact holding in some specific suit. They were first thought of by Ely Culbertson in the early '30s. The game was not ready for them at that time and Ely abandoned this particular brain child.

As bidding methods have improved over the years experts have continued to study these bids. A few actually use them, but for the most part experts have not got around to them as yet.

Today's hand illustrates a real asking bid situation. North responds with two hearts to his partner's opening diamond bid and is surprised to hear a two-spade response. After checking his hearing, he goes into a brown study to find out what to do from then on. Obviously the only card he is interested in is the ace of clubs. How can he ask about it?

When this hand was actually dealt in a friendly International Match Point match between some of America's best young players, each North tried to solve his problem by the use of Blackwood only to elicit a five-diamond response to show one ace. After that each one decided that it was far more likely he would find his partner's ace would be in diamonds than in clubs, and settled for the cinch small slam.

They were correct in their guesses but not satisfied with their results and have decided that if they ever hold this hand again, a jump from two spades to five clubs will be a straight asking bid in clubs. It seems reasonable but we hope that they remember it when they pick up a similar hand five or 10 years from now.

2♦	Double	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠Q10854 ♥A10 ♦53 ♣7654

What do you do now?

A—Bid two spades. Your partner may be able to beat two diamonds but it is not worth-while letting him try. Your hand is worth very little for defense.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding one no-trump your partner jumps to three spades. What do you do now?

Republican Master Builder

While President-elect Nixon master-minded his own winning campaign, another man played an indispensable role in the GOP recapture of the White House—National Chairman Ray Bliss. Taking over a shattered and demoralized party organization in 1964, he made it the vehicle for victory in 1968, in the process earning the confidence and respect of Republicans of all factions.

A LEADING CANDIDATE for Republican national chairman as early as 1957, Ray Bliss had already made a name for himself in national political circles through his success in state politics. His Ohio party organization regularly produced GOP victories in state and congressional elections.

FIRST FRUITS of the Bliss party renewal project came in the 1966 elections. Bliss conferred with former President Eisenhower on the eve of voting that yielded 47 new Republican House seats and eight governorships.

THE 1964 DEBACLE shattered the national GOP organization. Ray Bliss, long reluctant to leave his Ohio balliwick, agreed to take over leadership from Dean Burch, left, defeated presidential candidate Barry Goldwater's hand-picked chairman.

HIGH POINT for Bliss—gaveling in the 1968 national convention at Miami Beach, where the party organization he had reconstructed was harnessed to candidate Nixon's shrewdly plotted campaign to recapture the White House. Next target: control of Congress in 1970.

One Aspirin Will Work As Well as Two for Most

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Although aspirin is a very valuable drug in the treatment of tension headaches and rheumatic fever, there are hazards connected with its injudicious use. These have been widely publicized in recent years. Now it appears that one of our sturdy astronauts has been dropped from the space program because of a disability connected with the use of aspirin. He was never made dizzy by a barrel roll; he didn't crack up when subjected to greatly increased atmospheric pressures but he WAS a victim of aspirin asthma.

Although this is not a common disease, it is progressive. It is characterized by sinusitis, attacks of shortness of breath (asthma) and a chronic cough. Perhaps one of the reasons this and other complications follow self-treatment with aspirin is that so many persons who take this drug regard two tablets as the standard dose. The truth is that for most people one tablet works just as well as two and is far less dangerous.

Q—My fingers crack open. I was told it was due to cold weather but it happens even

Kings Upend Seals in Hockey Play

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With Bill Flett scoring two goals and adding an assist and Jim Peters recording one of each Tuesday night, the Kings upended the Seals 3-1 for their fourth straight National Hockey League victory, a team record. It was the night's only NHL game and moved Los Angeles within a point of the West Division's front-running St. Louis Blues.

After a scoreless first period, Flett took passes from Peters and Doug Robinson and rifled the puck past rookie goalie Chris Worthey at the 3:36 mark. Less than five minutes later, Flett tipped in Larry Cahan's 40-footer.

The Seals cut the margin at 7:20 of the third period as Gerry Ehman skated behind the net, then slipped the puck past King goalie Gerry Desjardins. But Peters locked it up for Los Angeles with 2½ minutes left in the game, slapping in a 10-footer.

Catholics Wrangle Over Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's Roman Catholic bishops are faced with making a final decision on one of the most divisive issues in the church's recent history—whether to loosen the traditional ban against the use of artificial birth controls.

The issue before the National Conference of Catholic Bishops today is whether Pope Paul VI's recent encyclical prohibiting artificial controls should be interpreted to allow a couple's conscience to guide them whether to use contraceptives.

A proposed draft of a pastoral letter recommends the liberal interpretation, a 11th hour source said the preliminary report still calls use of artificial controls a sin.

Forty priests punished by Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington for calling for a choice of conscience were rebuffed Tuesday in their appeal for intervention by the conference.

The bishops also defeated a proposal Tuesday to set up local fact-finding boards to try to ease the strain over dissent in Washington and in San Antonio, where a group of priests have urged the resignation of their archbishop.

The American bishops met in secret for the sensitive showdown on birth control with their final decision to be made public in a pastoral letter before the end of the conference Friday.

The bishops made no move to intervene in the Washington punishment dispute as one cardinal lashed out at the dissenting priests for rejecting local mediation.

Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore, who has headed the bishops' arbitration panel, said the priests had made a serious error. But the Rev. John E. Corrigan, leader of the dissenters, said Cardinal O'Boyle "has given no sign of good faith in the mediation effort."

Father Corrigan said the priests' "situation is hopeless unless the bishops act."

Who Owns Upper Righthand Corner of an Envelope?

I get involved — as an editor should. Currently I'm on a campaign to persuade business houses and government agencies which send out return addressed envelopes to the public to abolish the practice of clobbering up the upper righthand corner of an envelope with the idiotic words "Place Stamp Here."

This practice interferes with postage-meter handling of the mail, which system is used pretty generally by private business and by the Post Office Department also. When there is printing in the place on an envelope in the space reserved for postage the meter's print becomes illegible, and you have to make the imprint on a piece of tape and then paste it over the envelope printing — which puts you back in the business of licking postage stamps.

In previous editorials I have named three offenders on envelope mutilation: Arkansas Revenue Department, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and the Internal Revenue Service.

On Oct. 25 I reported that State Revenue Commissioner B. Bryan Larey acknowledged the justice of my complaint and has ordered his department to clean up its envelopes at the next printing.

Since then a district official of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has advised me orally that his company is preparing to make the same envelope reform — but I take this lightly until I see it in writing, for I wrote Bell's Hot Springs district office about the matter a couple of years ago and got some conversation but no action.

Regarding the party of the third part, the Internal Revenue Service, I got a letter from Washington, D. C., yesterday — and the federal answer is No.

So the present box score is:
Yes
Maybe
No.

Meanwhile my campaign got a lift from the Associated Press. Tommy Yates of the Little Rock Bureau, who does the feature "Life in Arkansas," turned out a column on the meter and me which ran state-wide in afternoon dailies of Nov. 7. My thanks to Mr. Yates and the Associated Press.

Here is the Internal Revenue Service's letter saying "No." Editor The Star: Keep up the good work! My design staff and myself are with you 100 percent. We applaud your respect for white space in graphic design, we also abhor unnecessary explanatory copy which insults a reader's intelligence, and our own professional efforts are always devoted to avoiding the deadly "ruts" people tend to fall into.

However, in the matter of the phrase "Place Stamp Here" which appears on our envelopes, certain practical considerations must be taken into account. These envelopes are intended for the average individual taxpayer, most of whom do not have access to postage-metering devices. In addition, the official-looking address on our return envelopes somehow seems to convey the impression (to some individuals) that this is a franked Government envelope and that no postage is necessary.

As a result, a number of taxpayers fail to place a stamp on the envelope. Inevitably this leads to a situation that annoys, confuses, and frustrates. Since it is the policy of the Internal Revenue Service to do everything in its power to help the taxpayer, we feel justified in continuing to carry the phrase "Place Stamp Here" on these reply envelopes.

Personally, I enjoyed the opportunity of reading your newspaper, it appears to me to contain a successful combination of National and Local coverage, well written, and with a fresh editorial approach. Sincerely,

Weather Is Computer Works Fast Severe in Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A severe northeaster headed toward New England today after battering the mid-Atlantic states with heavy snow, rain and near hurricane force winds in an icy foretaste of winter.

At least three storm-related deaths were reported in New England and several more fatalities were attributed to the weather farther south.

The blustering storm, the third northeaster to hit New England in six days, prompted heavy snow warnings.

Gale driven seas crashing over a seawall caused damage at Kennebunk Beach, Maine. Breakers 20 to 30 feet high tossed boulders and other debris onto King's Highway and onto the lawns of summer cottages.

The winds also threatened the lives of thousands of small doves, a species of auk, which were blown ashore on Cape Cod. Naturalists said the birds live in salt water and can't survive ashore.

The cruise ship Oceanic encountered rough seas and high winds as it headed back to New York after a boiler room fire forced the captain to turn the Bahamas-bound vessel back. All 1,040 passengers were safe.

The storm, spawned in the Gulf of Mexico, roared up the coast from the Carolinas Monday night to lash the shore areas with wind and rain which turned to snow further inland.

Power lines were downed, commuters delayed, bridges closed, streets flooded, schools closed, ferries stranded, boats swamped, trees felled, windows shattered and umbrellas broken.

The Arkansas State Police Today Inaugurated Use of Its New IBM Typewriter Communication Terminal at the Hope District Headquarters on Tuesday.

The new computer system is the first of its kind in the nation. The computer system has been present the theory of evolution "with an open mind and clear conscience."

The U. S. Supreme Court struck down the law on Tuesday, saying the prohibition against the teaching of evolution in Arkansas public schools was an establishment of religion by the state and unconstitutional.

Mrs. Susan Epperson, a native of Clarksville, Ark., filed suit against the law when she was a biology teacher in Little Rock Central High School in 1966.

History holds many surprises but it has yet to produce an older generation that praised its successor generation as one more promising and more fit to hold the reins of power. No, the general attitude has always been pessimistic.

Each generation has assured itself, with upraised hands of rejection and an air of profound melancholy, that the younger generation is the worst on record and is surely going to Hades in a hand basket. This holler-than-thou attitude has gone on through countless generations and centuries.

If this parade of pessimism were true, surely the human race would have perished of incompetence or moral malnutrition long since. Yet, somehow, the earth still eludes the sun as before and holds more people who live better and last longer than it did when all these dark prophecies of disaster first began to be voiced.

The teen-agers we confront today across our generation gap are regarded as particularly appalling. They enjoy the worst press since Gutenberg came up with movable type.

And I think "enjoy" is the right word. In our adult hysteria we have mesmerized ourselves into believing we have savaged the youth.

28 New Legislative Members But Only 4 Defeated Incumbents

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—There will be 28 new members in the Arkansas General Assembly when it convenes next January, but only four of the newcomers will have attained their position with victories over incumbents in the primary and general elections.

Even though 24 lawmakers decided not to seek re-election, the turnover in the House and Senate was not as great as it was two years ago when the upper chamber opened its doors to 10 new members and the House to 43.

The breakdown this year shows 25 newcomers in the House and three in the Senate. And, despite frequently repeated claims by Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller that the GOP would make gains—perhaps winning between 20 and 30 seats—because the legislature had trounced his tax proposals in a special session last May—the General Assembly remained in virtually complete control of Democrats.

Republicans did manage to add two seats, one in each house. The Senate now numbers 34 Democrats and one Republican, the House 96 Democrats and four Republicans.

The gain in the Senate came in District 1 where Jim Caldwell of Rogers defeated veteran Russell Elrod of Siloam Springs, who had served in the Senate since 1945.

Caldwell rode to victory in the strong GOP district. Elrod, known as the Little Fox, had sponsored much of the Rockefeller administration legislation in the Senate in 1967 and 1968.

The additional GOP seat in the House went to Marshall Chrisman of Hartman, who defeated Elvan Wharton, a Democrat from Clarksville, in District 8. Chrisman succeeds Democratic Rep. Garner L. Taylor of Clarksville, who did not seek re-election.

Republicans retained three seats they held last year. George Novotny of Fort Smith, the House minority leader, won re-election in Position two in District 12 while Danny L.

Patrick of Delaney won re-election in District 2.

Nixon Will Have Fewer Top Aides

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Richard M. Nixon, naming Bryce N. Harlow as a presidential assistant, indicates he will have fewer top staff aides than either Presidents Kennedy or Johnson.

Nixon announced Tuesday naming Bryce N. Harlow, 52, by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford that the United States intends to go ahead with out government man since World War II will specialize "management of legislation and Congressional affairs."

In the administrations of the late John F. Kennedy and President Johnson, the highest ranking White House staffers have carried the title of special assistants along with the maximum authorized salary of $30,000 a year.

Sources in Nixon's encourage said today, however, that the President-elect plans to depart from the Kennedy and Johnson practice of naming the authorized maximum of four special assistants at $30,000 a year, and plans to change some titles while so doing.

These sources said that in the Nixon administration assistants to the President will have the highest rank, and that they will number far fewer than 14.

When Nixon takes office on Jan. 20, they said, special assistants will rank below assistants and, on a still lower level, there will be administrative assistants.

Nixon is in New York for at least a few days, continuing staff discussions on formation of a new administration.

Pentagon Feels Saigon Allies Hit Will Drop Boycott of Paris Peace Talks

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officials say they believe that Saigon, faced with the prospect of having to settle its political differences with the Viet Cong alone, will drop its boycott of the broadened Paris peace talks.

This prospect appeared implicit in Tuesday's declaration naming Bryce N. Harlow, 52, by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford that the United States intends to go ahead with out government man since World War II will specialize "management of legislation and Congressional affairs."

Resignation Holds Over, Says Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says the letter of retirement Chief Justice Earl Warren submitted to President Johnson holds over and could be accepted by Richard M. Nixon after he takes office.

"While the offer to retire was made to President Johnson, there is nothing to prevent the new president from acting on it," Dirksen said in an interview.

This view of the letter, submitted last June, addressed only to "My Dear Mr. President" is flatly contrary to that held by Senate Democrats, reported by Dirksen.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and others who supported Johnson's unsuccessful nomination of Abe Fortas to succeed Warren.

"Of course," Dirksen added, "the chief justice has the option to retire at any time he chooses, even before the new president takes office."

Dirksen also said that despite the fact Nixon and Warren have been at political loggerheads since the days both were GOP figures in California, he has every expectation that Warren will administer the oath of office to Nixon Jan. 20. There has been no discussion of the matter between Warren and Nixon, other sources said.

Warren has been silent about his future plans since the Senate shelved the Fortas nomination Oct. 2.

Rights Groups in Shootout, Three Dead

By JOHN STEEDE
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Five Negro men burst into the headquarters of a civil rights group today, shot the Negro founder and two other men dead, then escaped, police said.

Two others wounded were hospitalized. All the victims and all the assailants were Negro, officers said.

One victim was identified as Guido St. Laurent, the blind founder and executive director of the New England Grass Roots Organization (NEGRO). St. Laurent was characterized by a city official as "a responsible militant."

St. Laurent's guide dog, a black Belgian Shepherd, remained at the victim's side as police closed off the three-story brick building on Blue Hill Avenue in the Roxbury section, a predominantly Negro area.

The others killed tentatively were identified as Cornell Eaton of Boston and Ronald King.

Fred Rose, 41, the black self-help organization's public relations director, and Ronald Hicks, 31, were wounded in the gunfire. They were taken to City Hospital.

Rose told police the five intruders burst into the organization's first-floor storefront office before dawn, yelling, "Where's the money? Where's the money?"

The gunmen began firing as they entered, Rose said.

Rose told officers he crawled under a desk after being shot once and was fired at again by one assailant who pointed a gun under the desk at him.

One of the dead men was found in a chair, and the others were sprawled on the floor when police arrived.

NEGRO is one of several black self-help groups which have sprung up in Boston in recent years.

There's Nothing Phony About This Fake City

BEN HECHT'S CHICAGO has been faithfully re-created by Hollywood set designers for the movie, "Gaily, Gaily." Few, if any, details were overlooked in this painstakingly authentic reproduction of the Windy City, circa 1910.

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(N E A)—Jerman Jewison is a great one for realism, but he's out-bing himself on his big Chicago loop set for "Gaily, Gaily."

This is the Chicago of 1910, when Ben Hecht first came to town. The story is loosely based on Hecht's beginnings in the newspaper business in Chicago, and Jewison and set designer Robert Boyle have built a beauty.

But Jewison thought it needed something else. There were horse-drawn streetcars and, with Hollywood's typical mania for keeping things neat and tidy, there wasn't a scrap of manure around. So Jewison ordered the horses onto the set early the next morning. By the time he and the actors arrived, the street looked more authentic.

But his eye spotted something else. On one of the buildings was a sign that read "Jewison, Ashby & Co." He appreciated the loyalty, but decided that was a bit much. When you see the picture, you'll see that it reads "Lewison" and you may notice, if you look closely, that the "L" is a little fresher than the "ewison."

Boyle's set cost $750,000 to build. It even has an elevator, which works. The designer says the 1910 era is a particularly difficult one to re-create.

"It was a turning-point era," he says. "Some old things—like the horse-drawn trolleys—were still around, but new things—like cars—were coming in."

The company rented 24 beautiful old cars from Lindsey Bothwell, a collector. The oldest is a 1902 Olds, with stick steering. The newest is a 1912 Flanders. The one most frequently seen in the picture is a 1910 Winton, which is supposed to be Melina Mercouri's.

Melina is enjoying her first Hollywood experience, although she's been working so hard she hasn't had a chance to indulge her favorite hobby—shopping.

"I haven't had time to buy a thing," she says. "Not a shoe, not a feather, nothing."

After the filming is over, she's going back to her home in Paris, with a lengthy stopover in New York.

"I've fallen in love with New York," she says. "In fact, Jules (her husband, director Jules Dassin) and I might live there. We have no definite plans, but you can't tell. We're gypsies. We would live anywhere but Greece—as it is today."

"What I would like to do next is a film about Greece, with Jules. We would like to tell the story of Greece today. It would be a labor of love—or hate."

Jewison was directing a scene in which the Chicago Mission band marches down the street. Among the marchers is young Margot Kidder, a Canadian actress getting her big break in "Gaily, Gaily."

Melina Mercouri plays a famous Chicago madame, and Margot is one of her girls who desert to the mission. Melina and Brian Keith follow her and find her in the band.

Jewison was having trouble with the band. He wanted them to take their cue from the bass drum, and to all move out at once.

"Listen," he said, "on the boom, boom, boom-boom-boom, you all start march-

Cocktail Set Shells Out For Bejeweled Mollusks

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Here's a 10-second mystery:

A Manhattan cocktail party hostess is given a piece of costume jewelry by one of her guests. It is studded with pearls and rhinestones. She opens the box, places the jewel on a table and then leaves to answer the door.

Later, when the hostess returns to her gift, she finds the jewelry box empty and the bauble missing. "I've been robbed," she mumbles and turns around to look at the suspiciously grinning faces of her guests.

Whodunit? Nobody. Cancel the call to the cops. There's the lost piece of jewelry up there, creeping slowly across the apartment's ceiling.

The "jewel," it turns out, is the latest novelty on New York's party circuit—a lavishly decorated but very much alive snail. It looks like a brooch or medallion, but it eats, drinks and doubles as a sort of pop-art pet.

The snails (called "Living Jewels") are the brainchild of 25-year-old New York attorney Barry Wise, who is both creator and curator of what has to be the most unique, perhaps most outlandish, gift item on today's market.

"They cost $3 apiece," says Wise, who shares a small office with one secretary and several thousand of his glittering gastropods. "I admit they are unusual, but I think snail sales are going to boom in this country."

Wise, a quiet, bespectacled man who is worried about his product's image, says he sees snails "going over big" with many people besides cocktail party types. He says men should like them because they make conversation pieces and kids because they can be used as either toys or pets.

Every woman, says Wise, should enjoy the jeweled mollusks: "Ten or 12 of them will do wonders to brighten up the decor of a blah living room wall."

Wise says his snails are the same kind eaten in many restaurants. They are small (half a golf ball in size), wicker baskets.

Producing the "jewels" is simple but tedious work, Wise says. He has hired a half-dozen women to do the art work. He gives them airplane glue, bangles and beads; they use their own imaginations and talents.

The women coat the snail shells with the glue, then place on the trinkets in precise conformity. Some swirls, some stars, some circles. The finished product should look like real costume jewelry.

Wise says experiments have indicated that only lightweight ornamentation is acceptable to the snails. They have rejected tests with fur, for example, by retreating into their shells and refusing to move about.

The temperamental withdrawal (hibernation) is, Wise says, "the beauty of this whole snail idea." Because of the mollusks' inclination to sleep, they can be activated or deactivated at the buyer's will.

When sold, the snails are in a state of hibernation. They have a self-formed membrane seal over their shell opening. To wake the snail, the buyer is advised to break the membrane and place the snail in a small pan of water. The snail then activates within 20 minutes, pops from his shell and looks for food.

Food, says Wise, should be lettuce, tomatoes or bits of cookie. He has learned the hard way that the snails also eat paper; one once got into his desk drawer and ate away a dozen pages of an order book.

When the owner wants the snail to deactivate, Wise says, he just has to take land mollusks imported from Morocco. Wise buys them by the thousands in large away the food and water. The snail will then crawl for the nearest wall, head straight up, form another membrane seal, and return to hibernation.

By way of propaganda, Wise says his jeweled snails are "clean, quiet and intelligent," but this isn't altogether gospel. On occasions the snails do make a slight noise ("oop, oop") and, being snails, they travel on a ventral muscular foot which leaves a wet, somewhat sticky, trail behind.

But as for being intelligent, there is no dispute. As one snail lover has put it, what more intelligent thing could anyone do at a Manhattan cocktail party than crawl up the nearest wall and go to sleep?
